Obituary

Oliver Augustus Jacobs, Jr. also known as "Ollie" "O" or "DJ Oskie" was born October 13, 1970, in Portsmouth Virginia to the late Oliver Jacobs, Sr. and Ida Mae Gibson. Ollie made his entrance into heaven on November 26, 2022.

Ollie grew up in Chesapeake, Virginia. Before entering high school, he discovered his love and passion for music. He graduated from Great Bridge High School in 1988. Immediately following high school, he attended Old Dominion University as a History major. While enrolled in college Oliver entered a competition for DJs competing against 100 DJs, taking home 1st place. Amid his last year of college, he began his significant career path in music when he received a phone call from a great friend, Micky, who invited him to travel to Addis Ababa, Ethiopia and perform at her father's renowned night club called "The Tunnel". He was the first American DJ to perform in Addis. This is where Ollie would now call "Home" for a while.

About one year later his parents asked him to return home to help manage their family businesses. Travelling for business and visiting friends is where Ollie met the love of his life, Michelle Joannides Jacobs. It was March 2009 when the magical connection began. Ollie came to Northern Virginia to get his hair cut at Michelle's salon before heading to a close friend's birthday party. From that point on their love blossomed and it was a FOREVER lasting love. They were for sure a "Bonnie and Clyde" duo.

Ollie didn't only accept love from Michelle, she came with 2 beautiful daughters, Embrezia and Milan who also accepted him with open arms. A year later, from this amazing Love, they created what would be a continuation of the Jacobs Legacy, when they welcomed Oliver Augustus Jacobs III (also known as OJ3) into the world. The family of five then moved to a comforting home in Hickory, Virginia. Michelle would still commute between Northern Virginia and the Tidewater area and Ollie took great pride in raising the children and family in Chesapeake. Ollie shared his presence on earth as he made sure he instilled a vast amount of knowledge, exceptional work ethic, and strength into his children to prepare them for their future.

Ollie made a tremendous impact in Michelle's life as well as everyone he came into contact with. Over the years, Ollie became more and more interested in Michelle's Ghanaian culture. He truly became a Ghanaian at heart. He showed a great passion for the Ghanaian people and with the help of his in-laws, Oliver was able to grasp and take hold of the culture. In 2017 Ollie was installed by the Ghanaian Chiefs and Queens Association in Washington DC to become a NANA. The title is a great honor and is bestowed on only a few. As Ollie would humbly say "you can now call me the Entry Level Chief". He was proud of the honor and legacy he would leave to his son. He committed himself to focus on education and school infrastructure for the children of Biriwa.

In Addition to being a DJ, Ollie continued to manifest his father's entrepreneurial legacy, where he pursued his own business in medical transportation called "Travel Safe". Not long after Ollie, gave the transportation business a rest and decided to permanently reside in the Northern VA area to be with his wife and children. While in the Northern VA area Ollie found his final niche in his career path as an Energy Consultant with the solar panel company, Sunrun. Oliver excelled very quickly in the solar business. It was quite apparent to all that Ollie made sure he was the best at everything he put his mind to.

Although his family was his greatest hobby, in his free time, Ollie loved traveling the world and having small get-togethers with close friends.

Embracing him at Heaven's gate, he reunites with his Father and Mother: Oliver Jacobs and Ida Jacobs; his Aunt Daphine Jacobs; Uncle Dr Ken Gibson; Beloved family friend Eric Somauh and Brother-in-love Kevin Trivett
